

Linnea P. Cipriano

Partner

New York | +1 212 459 7258

lcipriano@goodwinlaw.com

Linnea Cipriano is a partner in Goodwin's Intellectual Property Litigation group. Her practice focuses on patent litigation in federal courts and the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office Patent Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB).

Ms. Cipriano has particular expertise in litigation and counseling in the pharmaceutical industry, including preparing for and representing clients in district court litigation under the Hatch-Waxman Act and BPCIA. Ms. Cipriano's experience extends to patents in the broader life science industry, including nutritional supplements, chemical manufacturing, DNA-based technology, medical devices, and drug delivery technologies.

Ms. Cipriano also focuses her practice on post grant proceedings at the PTAB and has represented clients in both inter partes review (IPR) and post grant review (PGR) proceedings. Ms. Cipriano has represented petitioners and patent owner's in a wide variety of technologies, including pharmaceutical formulations, electronic devices, manufacturing methods, and medical devices.

Ms. Cipriano's practice combines her in-depth knowledge of patent law with her scientific experience to serve her clients. She holds a graduate degree in pharmacology, and before pursuing a career in law, performed research at the Cleveland Clinic.

Emily C. O'Brien

Senior Litigation Counsel

Google LLC

As senior counsel at Google, Emily manages complex patent litigation in multiple product areas, including mobile and advertising. Her practice includes matters throughout the United States, as well as in Asia and Europe. She's also actively involved in mentoring both within and outside Google. Prior to joining Google, Emily worked at Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan, LLP. Her practice focused on Intellectual Property and Antitrust litigation. She earned her B.S. in Chemistry and B.A. in English from The George Washington University, and her law degree from Georgetown University Law Center.

Julie Han is Vice President and the head of Samsung's Silicon Valley IP Office. Before joining Samsung, she was a partner at Kilpatrick, Townsend & Stockton, where she spent 10 years doing patent litigation and complex civil litigation. She received her law degree from Santa Clara University School of Law and a Bachelor's of Science in Chemical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Lori Wolfe is an Associate General Counsel of North America IP Litigation at Teva Pharmaceuticals. She joined Teva seven years ago from Fitzpatrick, Cella, Harper, & Scinto where she was focused on brand-side Hatch-Waxman litigation. At Teva, she has continued to focus on patent litigation involving specialty products and also manages generic and biosimilar patent litigations. Ms. Wolfe earned her law degree along with a Masters of Intellectual Property from Franklin Pierce Law Center (now the University of New Hampshire School of Law) and her bachelor's in chemistry from Rutgers College.

Janice Ye is IP Litigation Counsel at Gilead Sciences, Inc., where she focuses on protecting, developing, and enforcing Gilead's intellectual property. Janice manages litigation and other contested matters concerning Gilead's intellectual property in the United States and foreign jurisdictions. She also supports due diligence, patentability, and freedom-to-operate analyses. Prior to joining Gilead, Janice was an associate at Greenberg Traurig, LLP, where she focused on patent litigation and represented clients in the biopharmaceutical and electronics industries. She received her B.S. from Cornell University and her J.D. from Boston College Law School.