

Andrew S. Boutros is Regional Chair of Dechert LLP's white collar practice, residing in the firm's Washington, D.C. and Chicago offices. A former federal prosecutor in Chicago, he was a member of DOJ's original "Silk Road" Task Force, which dismantled what the government then described as the most sophisticated and extensive criminal marketplace of its kind on the Internet. He has since been active in the cryptocurrency sphere and has handled a variety of matters in the space. He also represents companies, victims and targets as well as their boards, audit committees, officers, directors and other individuals in various government enforcement matters. Mr. Boutros has been teaching law at the University of Chicago Law School for 12 consecutive years.

Rochelle Dreyfuss is the Pauline Newman Professor of Law at NYU Law School and co-Director of the Engelberg Center on Innovation Law and Policy. She teaches courses in Patent Law, International IP Law, IP Crimes and a colloquium on Innovation Policy. She has served on the Advisory Committee on Genetics, Health, and Society for the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services and has been a consultant to the Federal Trade Commission. Professor Dreyfuss' writing includes books on Balancing Wealth and Health, Building a Resilient International IP System, and the Boundaries of IP Protection as well as many articles on the relationship between IP rights and access to knowledge and knowledge products.

Jeffrey Eglash is an experienced litigator overseeing global investigations and compliance programs at some of the world's leading technology companies. As former Vice President and Chief Compliance Officer at Nokia and former Executive Litigation Counsel with General Electric Company, he was responsible for global ethics programs, global compliance programs and global enforcement matters. Mr. Eglash previously served as head of Public Corruption & Government Fraud at the Los Angeles U.S. Attorney's Office, where he prosecuted and supervised all criminal matters involving corruption, fraud, economic espionage and theft of trade secrets. He also served as the Inspector General for the Los Angeles Police department and a partner at Howrey & Simon, an international law firm.

Clare Putnam Pozos is a partner in Dechert’s litigation practice, representing clients in a broad range of white collar, investigations, appellate, and privacy and cybersecurity matters. Ms. Pozos is the former First Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, which is one of the nation’s largest districts. In that role, she served as the second-ranking official in the U.S. Attorney’s Office, overseeing the investigation and prosecution of cases involving a wide variety of federal crimes, including securities, commodities, insurance, health care, pandemic-related fraud, and other complex frauds, insider trading, public corruption, cybercrime, and asset forfeiture. Before holding that position, she served as the Senior Advisor to the U.S. Attorney, advising on criminal and civil case decisions, hiring and employment matters, and Department of Justice policy initiatives.

A seasoned trial lawyer, Ms. Pozos served as an Assistant United States Attorney for over a decade, first in Washington D.C. and later in Philadelphia. She has prosecuted hundreds of cases, acted as lead counsel in over 40 trials, and handled numerous appeals before both federal and state courts involving fraud, public corruption, cybercrime, and complex dark web narcotics investigations.

Ms. Pozos has received numerous Special Achievement Awards for her trial and investigative work throughout her career, including recognition by the Office of National Drug Control Policy for the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas Outstanding Opioid Investigative Effort in both 2018 and 2019. Most recently, she was named among City & State’s 2021 “Pennsylvania 40 under 40” and was also featured as a “Lawyer on the Fast Track” by The Legal Intelligencer in 2019.

Prior to joining the Department of Justice, Ms. Pozos was an associate at another international law firm where she concentrated her practice on political law and ethics investigations.

Ms. Pozos serves on the Board of Directors of TouchPoint Inc., which is a privately-held, diversified, global-growth company focused on engineered products in growth markets. She also is actively involved in the community in Philadelphia and serves on the Boards of the Lankenau Medical Center Foundation, the Rock School for Dance Education, and the Agnes Irwin School.
